

URGENT NEWS ABOUT BLOOD TESTS

There is a national shortage of blood test bottles, which is expected to last until at least 17th September 2021. This is affecting every healthcare service provider.

We have therefore been told by the NHS to postpone all non-urgent blood tests.

We are extremely sorry for the inconvenience. This is something that is completely out of our control.

